SUMMARY

I am currently interning with TinkerHub as a Campus Community Manager, am also leading the campus chapter of TinkerHub in my college wherein I focus to build a campus learning culture on and off the campus, am also selected as student ambassador of a community called Product Pack where we work to build a community of product thinkers. My friendly attitude and my communication skills makes me more approachable which also helps me to efficiently manage my team. I have an open mindset which will help me to create a trust and an environment for the team members which will motivate them to give there full potential for the community. I am resilient to any situations which facilitates me to stay calm during hard times. I work hard to make things better and bigger with the resources that's available.
